

SOCIAL and PERSONAL

Another Day to Buy

SILK HOSE

At Special Prices

Kaufmann qualities insure dependable stockings.

Ladies' Pure Silk Boot Hose, with reinforced heel and toe, in all colors; special, a pair ..... 50c

Pure Silk Hose, with deep lisle garter top, reinforced heel and toe, in all shades; $1.00 values; special, per pair ..... 79c

Extra Heavy Quality of Pure Silk Hose, with lisle lined garter top, reinforced heel and toe, in black, white and tan; $1.50 values; special, per pair ..... $1.19

Kaufmann & Co.
Corner Fourth and Broad Streets.

all the decorations. Yellow and white flowers were bunched on the mantels and garlands of evergreen were hung on the stairway and over the windows and doorways of the entire lower floor.

Guests from a distance attending the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. D. P. McGeechey, Messrs. Daniel, English and Neil McGeechey, of Lewisburg, W. Va.; Mrs. J. E. Mullen, of Columbia, S. C.; Mrs. W. E. Hill and William and Thomas Hill, of Atlanta; Dr. and Mrs. Harper, of Greensboro, N. C.

Returned From Baltimore.
Mrs. E. L. Beniss and her daughter, Mrs. M. K. Wicks, who returned to their home on East Grace Street, after a visit of ten days to Baltimore, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. R. Lancaster Williams at their country home just outside of Baltimore.

To Spend Winter Here.
Miss Virginia Christian, who has just been in Baltimore as the guest of relatives for the past two weeks, has returned to Richmond.

Wills-Vaughan.
Miss Alma Wyatt Vaughan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Vaughan, was married Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock in the home of her parents, 1312 Third Avenue, Highland Park, to Robert Mayo Wills, formerly of this city, but now of Washington. The wedding was a lovely affair and the entire lower floor was elaborately decorated in pinks, purples and greens. The Rev. C. H. Burgess, officiating, read the third chapter of the book of Isaiah. The bride, who was given away by her father, wore a lovely gown of white brocade trimmed with pink pearls, and carried a bouquet of pink and white roses. The groom wore a tulle suit and carried a white boutonniere. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. C. H. Burgess, pastor of the Third Baptist Church, and the wedding was a lovely affair.

Wills-Vaughan.
Miss Alma Wyatt Vaughan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Vaughan, was married Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock in the home of her parents, 1312 Third Avenue, Highland Park, to Robert Mayo Wills, formerly of this city, but now of Washington. The wedding was a lovely affair and the entire lower floor was elaborately decorated in pinks, purples and greens. The Rev. C. H. Burgess, officiating, read the third chapter of the book of Isaiah. The bride, who was given away by her father, wore a lovely gown of white brocade trimmed with pink pearls, and carried a bouquet of pink and white roses. The groom wore a tulle suit and carried a white boutonniere. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. C. H. Burgess, pastor of the Third Baptist Church, and the wedding was a lovely affair.

Wills-Vaughan.
Miss Alma Wyatt Vaughan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Vaughan, was married Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock in the home of her parents, 1312 Third Avenue, Highland Park, to Robert Mayo Wills, formerly of this city, but now of Washington. The wedding was a lovely affair and the entire lower floor was elaborately decorated in pinks, purples and greens. The Rev. C. H. Burgess, officiating, read the third chapter of the book of Isaiah. The bride, who was given away by her father, wore a lovely gown of white brocade trimmed with pink pearls, and carried a bouquet of pink and white roses. The groom wore a tulle suit and carried a white boutonniere. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. C. H. Burgess, pastor of the Third Baptist Church, and the wedding was a lovely affair.

Wills-Vaughan.
Miss Alma Wyatt Vaughan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Vaughan, was married Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock in the home of her parents, 1312 Third Avenue, Highland Park, to Robert Mayo Wills, formerly of this city, but now of Washington. The wedding was a lovely affair and the entire lower floor was elaborately decorated in pinks, purples and greens. The Rev. C. H. Burgess, officiating, read the third chapter of the book of Isaiah. The bride, who was given away by her father, wore a lovely gown of white brocade trimmed with pink pearls, and carried a bouquet of pink and white roses. The groom wore a tulle suit and carried a white boutonniere. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. C. H. Burgess, pastor of the Third Baptist Church, and the wedding was a lovely affair.

Wills-Vaughan.
Miss Alma Wyatt Vaughan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Vaughan, was married Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock in the home of her parents, 1312 Third Avenue, Highland Park, to Robert Mayo Wills, formerly of this city, but now of Washington. The wedding was a lovely affair and the entire lower floor was elaborately decorated in pinks, purples and greens. The Rev. C. H. Burgess, officiating, read the third chapter of the book of Isaiah. The bride, who was given away by her father, wore a lovely gown of white brocade trimmed with pink pearls, and carried a bouquet of pink and white roses. The groom wore a tulle suit and carried a white boutonniere. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. C. H. Burgess, pastor of the Third Baptist Church, and the wedding was a lovely affair.

Wills-Vaughan.
Miss Alma Wyatt Vaughan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Vaughan, was married Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock in the home of her parents, 1312 Third Avenue, Highland Park, to Robert Mayo Wills, formerly of this city, but now of Washington. The wedding was a lovely affair and the entire lower floor was elaborately decorated in pinks, purples and greens. The Rev. C. H. Burgess, officiating, read the third chapter of the book of Isaiah. The bride, who was given away by her father, wore a lovely gown of white brocade trimmed with pink pearls, and carried a bouquet of pink and white roses. The groom wore a tulle suit and carried a white boutonniere. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. C. H. Burgess, pastor of the Third Baptist Church, and the wedding was a lovely affair.

Wills-Vaughan.
Miss Alma Wyatt Vaughan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Vaughan, was married Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock in the home of her parents, 1312 Third Avenue, Highland Park, to Robert Mayo Wills, formerly of this city, but now of Washington. The wedding was a lovely affair and the entire lower floor was elaborately decorated in pinks, purples and greens. The Rev. C. H. Burgess, officiating, read the third chapter of the book of Isaiah. The bride, who was given away by her father, wore a lovely gown of white brocade trimmed with pink pearls, and carried a bouquet of pink and white roses. The groom wore a tulle suit and carried a white boutonniere. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. C. H. Burgess, pastor of the Third Baptist Church, and the wedding was a lovely affair.

Wills-Vaughan.
Miss Alma Wyatt Vaughan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Vaughan, was married Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock in the home of her parents, 1312 Third Avenue, Highland Park, to Robert Mayo Wills, formerly of this city, but now of Washington. The wedding was a lovely affair and the entire lower floor was elaborately decorated in pinks, purples and greens. The Rev. C. H. Burgess, officiating, read the third chapter of the book of Isaiah. The bride, who was given away by her father, wore a lovely gown of white brocade trimmed with pink pearls, and carried a bouquet of pink and white roses. The groom wore a tulle suit and carried a white boutonniere. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. C. H. Burgess, pastor of the Third Baptist Church, and the wedding was a lovely affair.

Wills-Vaughan.
Miss Alma Wyatt Vaughan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Vaughan, was married Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock in the home of her parents, 1312 Third Avenue, Highland Park, to Robert Mayo Wills, formerly of this city, but now of Washington. The wedding was a lovely affair and the entire lower floor was elaborately decorated in pinks, purples and greens. The Rev. C. H. Burgess, officiating, read the third chapter of the book of Isaiah. The bride, who was given away by her father, wore a lovely gown of white brocade trimmed with pink pearls, and carried a bouquet of pink and white roses. The groom wore a tulle suit and carried a white boutonniere. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. C. H. Burgess, pastor of the Third Baptist Church, and the wedding was a lovely affair.

Wills-Vaughan.
Miss Alma Wyatt Vaughan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Vaughan, was married Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock in the home of her parents, 1312 Third Avenue, Highland Park, to Robert Mayo Wills, formerly of this city, but now of Washington. The wedding was a lovely affair and the entire lower floor was elaborately decorated in pinks, purples and greens. The Rev. C. H. Burgess, officiating, read the third chapter of the book of Isaiah. The bride, who was given away by her father, wore a lovely gown of white brocade trimmed with pink pearls, and carried a bouquet of pink and white roses. The groom wore a tulle suit and carried a white boutonniere. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. C. H. Burgess, pastor of the Third Baptist Church, and the wedding was a lovely affair.

Wills-Vaughan.
Miss Alma Wyatt Vaughan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Vaughan, was married Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock in the home of her parents, 1312 Third Avenue, Highland Park, to Robert Mayo Wills, formerly of this city, but now of Washington. The wedding was a lovely affair and the entire lower floor was elaborately decorated in pinks, purples and greens. The Rev. C. H. Burgess, officiating, read the third chapter of the book of Isaiah. The bride, who was given away by her father, wore a lovely gown of white brocade trimmed with pink pearls, and carried a bouquet of pink and white roses. The groom wore a tulle suit and carried a white boutonniere. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. C. H. Burgess, pastor of the Third Baptist Church, and the wedding was a lovely affair.

Wills-Vaughan.
Miss Alma Wyatt Vaughan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Vaughan, was married Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock in the home of her parents, 1312 Third Avenue, Highland Park, to Robert Mayo Wills, formerly of this city, but now of Washington. The wedding was a lovely affair and the entire lower floor was elaborately decorated in pinks, purples and greens. The Rev. C. H. Burgess, officiating, read the third chapter of the book of Isaiah. The bride, who was given away by her father, wore a lovely gown of white brocade trimmed with pink pearls, and carried a bouquet of pink and white roses. The groom wore a tulle suit and carried a white boutonniere. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. C. H. Burgess, pastor of the Third Baptist Church, and the wedding was a lovely affair.

Wills-Vaughan.
Miss Alma Wyatt Vaughan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Vaughan, was married Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock in the home of her parents, 1312 Third Avenue, Highland Park, to Robert Mayo Wills, formerly of this city, but now of Washington. The wedding was a lovely affair and the entire lower floor was elaborately decorated in pinks, purples and greens. The Rev. C. H. Burgess, officiating, read the third chapter of the book of Isaiah. The bride, who was given away by her father, wore a lovely gown of white brocade trimmed with pink pearls, and carried a bouquet of pink and white roses. The groom wore a tulle suit and carried a white boutonniere. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. C. H. Burgess, pastor of the Third Baptist Church, and the wedding was a lovely affair.

Wills-Vaughan.
Miss Alma Wyatt Vaughan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Vaughan, was married Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock in the home of her parents, 1312 Third Avenue, Highland Park, to Robert Mayo Wills, formerly of this city, but now of Washington. The wedding was a lovely affair and the entire lower floor was elaborately decorated in pinks, purples and greens. The Rev. C. H. Burgess, officiating, read the third chapter of the book of Isaiah. The bride, who was given away by her father, wore a lovely gown of white brocade trimmed with pink pearls, and carried a bouquet of pink and white roses. The groom wore a tulle suit and carried a white boutonniere. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. C. H. Burgess, pastor of the Third Baptist Church, and the wedding was a lovely affair.

Wills-Vaughan.
Miss Alma Wyatt Vaughan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Vaughan, was married Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock in the home of her parents, 1312 Third Avenue, Highland Park, to Robert Mayo Wills, formerly of this city, but now of Washington. The wedding was a lovely affair and the entire lower floor was elaborately decorated in pinks, purples and greens. The Rev. C. H. Burgess, officiating, read the third chapter of the book of Isaiah. The bride, who was given away by her father, wore a lovely gown of white brocade trimmed with pink pearls, and carried a bouquet of pink and white roses. The groom wore a tulle suit and carried a white boutonniere. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. C. H. Burgess, pastor of the Third Baptist Church, and the wedding was a lovely affair.

Wills-Vaughan.
Miss Alma Wyatt Vaughan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Vaughan, was married Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock in the home of her parents, 1312 Third Avenue, Highland Park, to Robert Mayo Wills, formerly of this city, but now of Washington. The wedding was a lovely affair and the entire lower floor was elaborately decorated in pinks, purples and greens. The Rev. C. H. Burgess, officiating, read the third chapter of the book of Isaiah. The bride, who was given away by her father, wore a lovely gown of white brocade trimmed with pink pearls, and carried a bouquet of pink and white roses. The groom wore a tulle suit and carried a white boutonniere. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. C. H. Burgess, pastor of the Third Baptist Church, and the wedding was a lovely affair.

Wills-Vaughan.
Miss Alma Wyatt Vaughan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Vaughan, was married Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock in the home of her parents, 1312 Third Avenue, Highland Park, to Robert Mayo Wills, formerly of this city, but now of Washington. The wedding was a lovely affair and the entire lower floor was elaborately decorated in pinks, purples and greens. The Rev. C. H. Burgess, officiating, read the third chapter of the book of Isaiah. The bride, who was given away by her father, wore a lovely gown of white brocade trimmed with pink pearls, and carried a bouquet of pink and white roses. The groom wore a tulle suit and carried a white boutonniere. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. C. H. Burgess, pastor of the Third Baptist Church, and the wedding was a lovely affair.

Wills-Vaughan.
Miss Alma Wyatt Vaughan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Vaughan, was married Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock in the home of her parents, 1312 Third Avenue, Highland Park, to Robert Mayo Wills, formerly of this city, but now of Washington. The wedding was a lovely affair and the entire lower floor was elaborately decorated in pinks, purples and greens. The Rev. C. H. Burgess, officiating, read the third chapter of the book of Isaiah. The bride, who was given away by her father, wore a lovely gown of white brocade trimmed with pink pearls, and carried a bouquet of pink and white roses. The groom wore a tulle suit and carried a white boutonniere. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. C. H. Burgess, pastor of the Third Baptist Church, and the wedding was a lovely affair.

Wills-Vaughan.
Miss Alma Wyatt Vaughan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Vaughan, was married Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock in the home of her parents, 1312 Third Avenue, Highland Park, to Robert Mayo Wills, formerly of this city, but now of Washington. The wedding was a lovely affair and the entire lower floor was elaborately decorated in pinks, purples and greens. The Rev. C. H. Burgess, officiating, read the third chapter of the book of Isaiah. The bride, who was given away by her father, wore a lovely gown of white brocade trimmed with pink pearls, and carried a bouquet of pink and white roses. The groom wore a tulle suit and carried a white boutonniere. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. C. H. Burgess, pastor of the Third Baptist Church, and the wedding was a lovely affair.

she made her home before her marriage. Mr. Davidson has recently been transferred from the U. S. to Charleston, and is connected with the Atlantic Coast Line Railroad.

Norfolk Wedding.
A very pretty wedding was solemnized at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. Lee Ashburn, 505 South Clay Avenue, Tuesday afternoon at 5 o'clock, when their daughter, Sarah Edith, was married to Alton Roscoe Newton, son of Mrs. Annie P. and the late Arthur J. Newton, that city.

Marguerite Greenland acted as maid of honor, and Miss Alice, a best man. The ribbons were held by Misses Louise Lewis and Lillie Fentress; Miss Baille Wilson Daugherty, of Holland; and Miss Algernon Reams, of Richmond.

"The bride wore a handsome dark brown traveling suit, with hat and gloves to match, and carried a shower bouquet of white roses and lilies of the valley. Miss Greenland's gown was shadow lace over yellow messaline, and her flowers were a shower of yellow roses. The dresses worn by Misses Lewis, Fentress, Daugherty and Reams were of white embroidered chiffon over silk, with yellow girdles.

"The rooms were decorated with palms and ferns. I Love You Truly was rendered by the bridesmaids, Charles Ashburn, Jr., of Richmond, played the wedding march as the bride entered with her father.

The wedding was performed by Rev. J. Truman Anderson, of the First Baptist Church, Messrs. Lawrence E. Lewis and Ryland Ashburn, brother of the bride, were ushers.

"After the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Newton left for an extended trip to Washington, Baltimore and the North. The bride and groom will be at the Chesterfield Juniors to meet.

The Chesterfield Juniors, United Daughters of the Confederacy, will hold their regular monthly meeting tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock, in the parlors of the Bainbridge Street Baptist Church, South Richmond.

Meeting This Afternoon.
The Grandchildren of the Confederacy, Chapter No. 1, auxiliary to the Richmond Chapter, United Daughters of the Confederacy, will meet this afternoon at 4 o'clock, at the William F. Fox School.

Reception for Pastor.
The Church of the Ascension, in Highland Park, will tender a delightful reception to the Rev. C. H. Burgess, pastor of the Third Baptist Church, after a visit of ten days to Baltimore. Mrs. Beniss and her daughter were guests of Mr. and Mrs. R. Lancaster Williams at their country home just outside of Baltimore.

Under the auspices of the Ella V. Wood, W. C. T. U., "The Cabbage Hill School" entertainment will be given Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock, at the William F. Fox School. This evening at 8 o'clock, at the William F. Fox School. This evening at 8 o'clock, at the William F. Fox School.

In and Out of Town.
Mrs. F. Travers Wood and her small son have returned to Richmond after an extended stay with relatives in the West.

Saunders Hobson and Miss Helen Martin are returning from "Castle Hill," Albemarle County, today.

Mrs. William Washington Ford, president of the Southern Club, of New York, is stopping at the Jefferson Hotel.

Colonel Selden Day, U. S. A., and Mrs. Day, who spent the summer in Virginia, are now at their home in Washington for the winter.

Mrs. Taylor Bissell has returned to Staunton after a visit to Richmond, Baltimore and New York.

Mrs. Benjamin Nash and Miss Hatcher have returned to Richmond, and are now at 217 Shafer Street.

Mrs. R. P. Anderson, of this city, who has been ill at the Retreat for the Sick, is now recuperating in the Valley of Virginia.

Miss Esmond Eugene Haxall, of Charles City County, is spending some time with her cousin, Miss Ruth Haxall Scott, on Hanover Avenue.

John B. Vaughan, who has been at the Johnston-Willis Hospital for the past month, is now the guest of his sister, Mrs. W. L. Foy, in Ashland.

Mrs. Louis Kennedy, of this city, is the guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. O. Glinian, in Charlottesville.

Why Nine-Tenths of Contest Winners Used Answer Books

Because They Wanted to Submit All Their Entries to the Contest. The Bookkeepers' Contest Editor has published from time to time the results of other Bookkeepers' Contests, given on other newspapers. These results show that the grand prize winners have always used Answer Books. The fullest possible result of their inquiries search through the catalogue.

And it follows naturally that fully nine-tenths of these grand prize winners have used Answer Books, for the Answer Book supplies the cheap way of submitting many answers.

If you make an average of seven answers to each picture, and use an Answer Book, the total cost will be 75 cents. For with an Answer Book you need only one copy of each picture.

If you make an average of seven answers to each picture, and do not use an Answer Book, you must secure 7 times 77, or 539 pictures and coupons, in order to submit the 539 titles. Let us suppose that you have clipped one copy of each picture from ten newspapers. That leaves you 462 pictures to buy. The pictures cost 2 cents each. Figure out the cost of 462 pictures. It is $9.24. And as between paying 75 cents to submit all your answers and $9.24 you would not hesitate long before choosing.

Some contestants, of course, may submit only one answer to each picture, hoping to select the best of each picture represents. Other contestants may submit one answer to many of the pictures, but allow themselves two answers to some of them.

And there is a third class of contestants—those who will submit the possible answers they have found. The results of other Bookkeepers' Contests have shown that this class has furnished all the winners of big prizes.

Evidently these winners have figured after this fashion: "No one knows what book title is represented by a picture. I do not know. I have ten chances to get it. In looking through the catalogue and studying over the pictures I have found ten book titles that seem to me possibly correct titles to each picture. One of them I have found to be correct. I will submit all the likely answers to each picture, and say this title is the correct one." What a chance to each picture that my search through the catalogue has disclosed. I certainly stand seven times as much chance of naming the correct title a picture represents if I submit seven possible answers to each picture as I have if I submit only one title. Of course, I will not submit several titles to each picture just for the sake of getting on. Each title I submit will be one that may be the correct title to that picture.

Answer Books, pictures and catalogues on sale until Saturday, 6 P. M., October 25. First day to send or bring in sets, Monday, October 27. Last day to send or bring in sets, 6 P. M., Saturday, November 1.

Hopkins Furniture Co.
7 West Broad St.
Cash or Credit.

Men's $1.50 Kid Gloves, $1.29

Ladies' Kid Gloves

Only the World's Best Makes Sold at the Thalheimer Glove Counter.

"Bono" Real Kid Gloves, P. K. finish, very heavy, fancy embroidery on back, two pearl clasps, tan with self and white embroidery, white with black; to- $2.25

Dent's Two-Clasp Kid Gloves, in both P. K. and overseas, black, white and colors, with self and contrasting embroidery; per pair, $1.00 and $1.50

English Walking Gloves, one-clasp, heavy outseams, assorted tans; per pair, $1.00 and $1.50

Real Kid Gloves, black and tan; per pair, 16-but- $3.50

Washable French Chamolux, prix seam, heavy silk embroidery, one pearl button, natural $1.50

Washable Doeskin Gloves, white only, per pair—

12-Button ..... $2.25
16-Button ..... $3.00

Real Kid Gloves, white only, per pair—

12-Button ..... $3.00
16-Button ..... $3.50
20-Button ..... $4.00

dearstood the peculiar laws of official etiquette of his father's invention.

His father was the chief of the Protocol bureau during the early days of the present republic, and was elevated to that position because he was found to be the only clerk remaining of the Protocol bureau of the reign of Napoleon, and the sole person therefore who had any knowledge of its traditions and customs. He started out in life as a goldsmith's apprentice, and was a cornetist in the orchestra of one of the minor theatres in Paris when he secured his petty clerkship in the Protocol bureau, in the closing years of the empire.

The mistakes of the Protocol bureau have been for the past forty years the laughing stock of diplomatic Europe, and its presumption in attempting to dictate to foreign embassies, a source of constant annoyance. No one has realized this better than President Poincaré; and that is why he has determined upon its reorganization, under the direction of his former private secretary, William Martin, who now becomes, therefore, grand master of the ceremonies to the government of the republic.

Queen Mary's well-known prejudice against the women's suffrage cause is restricted to the militant element thereof. But it did not prevent her, when staying with King George at Althorp, in Northamptonshire, at the guest of Lord Spencer, the other day, from motoring over to Fawsley Park, in the same county, to spend more time with the storied side of the dying Lady Knightley, who was some of the leaders of the votes for women movement, though opposed to militant methods. She had always been very fond of Lady Knightley, whom she had known from her own girlhood, and was much moved at finding from her old friend, who died two days later.

Lady Knightley had a wonderful gift for organization, and this, together with her far-sightedness, made her somewhat insistent upon her own point of view, so that she was regarded by many as somewhat too masterful and dogmatic. It is not astonishing, under the circumstances, that her husband, Lord Knightley, who predicted her, enjoyed the reputation of being a particularly silent partner.

There were only two subjects on which Lord Knightley could talk with authority: One was the best of which he was perhaps the whist player in England; the other was heraldry, about which he possessed an amazing amount of knowledge. Perhaps his own wonderful pedigree led him to the study of the subject, and certain it is that when he was induced to talk about heraldry, it always led to his discussion of the history of his own family. It was this habit of his that moved the late Sir William Harcourt to adapt the lines from Joseph Addison's hymn, as follows:

"Knightley to the listening ear
Has brought the history of his birth."
True, Lord Knightley's every reason for he could trace it in an unbroken male line to Sir Raimond de Knightley, who came over with William the Conqueror.

As mentioned in "Doomsday Book" at the time of the reign of King Henry III, the present mansion being a wonderful example of old Tudor architecture. It is said that the expression "under the rose" is derived from the Tudor rose ornamenting the center of the great hall, meaning, of course, that beneath the Fawsley rose, secrets could be discussed with perfect freedom and safety. The Knightley barony became extinct with the last Lord Knightley, who went to a cousin, Sir Charles Knightley, who will now receive possession of the Fawsley Park estates, of which the late Lady Knightley had the enjoyment until her demise.

President Poincaré proposed to spend a good deal more time in traveling about than his predecessors at the Elysée Palace, and is credited with the intention of visiting every one of the eighty-five departments into which France is divided, during the course of office—in addition to the series of state visits which he will be obliged to pay to foreign capitals, as well as to Tunis and Algeria.

In view of Mrs. the various railroad companies of France have clubbed together to provide him with a new and up-to-date presidential train of five cars, at an expense of about $200,000, to which each of them will contribute its share. The present presidential train is completely out of date, being some twenty-five years old, and not being on boggy wheels, cannot travel with safety at the rate of the modern express. The new train will contain a large bedroom for the President, a library, a reception-room, a dining-room and a bathroom, etc. (Copyright, 1913, by the Brentwood Company.)

Ellington-Grey.
Crave, Va., October 16.—The Baptist Church was the scene of a lovely wedding on Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock, when Miss Nettie Grey Moore became the bride of Charles W. Ellington, of Hickory, N. C. The church was decorated with tall palms, ferns, cut flowers, and many lighted candles. Garlands of white chrysanthemums, festooned with yellow tulle, outlined the arch from which was suspended a huge bell of pure white. Standards of white chrysanthemums marked the reserved news and covered the altar. Miss Chloris Wills acted as maid of honor. The ushers and bridesmaids stood in the following order: Samuel Roberts and Claude Kidd, William Graham and Miss E. M. Moore, Clyde Wilson and Miss Thelma Elliott, Claude Jones and Miss Birdie Andrews.

The bride's maids wore gowns of white lingerie, with yellow girdles and hair ornaments to match. Their bouquets were tied with little streamers of yellow. Next came the ring bearer, little Miss Katherine Moore, niece of the bride, carrying the ring in a large yellow chrysanthemum. Miss Kate Moore, sister of the bride, as maid of honor, came in alone. Her dress was of yellow tulle and lace, and carried a bouquet of lavender chrysanthemums. The bride wore a gown of blue cloth, with yellow tulle. The groom and his best man, Rev. J. D. Harte, of Hickory, N. C., came from the vestry room, meeting the bride at the altar. The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. D. Harte, of Hickory, N. C., who was followed by Rev. M. R. Cooper, of the church, performed the ceremony. The bride wore a going-away gown of blue cloth, and carried a shower bouquet of bride's roses and lilies of the valley. The groom wore a tulle suit, and carried a white boutonniere. The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. D. Harte, of Hickory, N. C., who was followed by Rev. M. R. Cooper, of the church, performed the ceremony. The bride wore a going-away gown of blue cloth, and carried a shower bouquet of bride's roses and lilies of the valley. The groom wore a tulle suit, and carried a white boutonniere. The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. D. Harte, of Hickory, N. C., who was followed by Rev. M. R. Cooper, of the church, performed the ceremony.

Immediately after the ceremony the bride party escorted Mr. and Mrs. Hughes to the Norfolk Southern Depot, and they left on the afternoon train for a wedding trip.

Hughes—Love.
[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
Elizabeth City, N. C., October 16.—Miss Mary Love, daughter of W. T. Love, of this city, and Jerry Hughes, of Elizabeth City's leading business men, were married yesterday afternoon in the First Baptist Church at 1:30 o'clock. The church was beautifully decorated in green and white, with numerous candles in the chandeliers. Just before the bride party entered, Miss Mary Love sang "Because," accompanied by Mr. J. M. Jenkins. The bride party consisted of the bride, her father, Mr. W. T. Love, and her brother, Mr. J. M. Love. The groom was Mr. Jerry Hughes. The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. M. Jenkins, pastor of the church. A reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, after which Mr. and Mrs. Hughes took the Norfolk Southern train for a wedding trip.

Bellows—Brewington.
[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
Lancaster, Va., October 16.—At high noon yesterday a beautiful wedding was celebrated in the Methodist Episcopal Church at Irvington, the contracting parties being Mr. William Bellows, of Lancaster, and Miss Myrtle Brewington, of Irvington. The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. D. Harte, pastor of the church. A reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, after which Mr. and Mrs. Bellows took the Norfolk Southern train for a wedding trip.

Shades to Order at Ryan-Smith's.
The Low Profit Policy Store.

Shades to Order at Ryan-Smith's.
The Low Profit Policy Store.

Shades to Order at Ryan-Smith's.
The Low Profit Policy Store.

Shades to Order at Ryan-Smith's.
The Low Profit Policy Store.

secretary, William Martin, who now becomes, therefore, grand master of the ceremonies to the government of the republic.

Queen Mary's well-known prejudice against the women's suffrage cause is restricted to the militant element thereof. But it did not prevent her, when staying with King George at Althorp, in Northamptonshire, at the guest of Lord Spencer, the other day, from motoring over to Fawsley Park, in the same county, to spend more time with the storied side of the dying Lady Knightley, who was some of the leaders of the votes for women movement, though opposed to militant methods. She had always been very fond of Lady Knightley, whom she had known from her own girlhood, and was much moved at finding from her old friend, who died two days later.

Lady Knightley had a wonderful gift for organization, and this, together with her far-sightedness, made her somewhat insistent upon her own point of view, so that she was regarded by many as somewhat too masterful and dogmatic. It is not astonishing, under the circumstances, that her husband, Lord Knightley, who predicted her, enjoyed the reputation of being a particularly silent partner.

There were only two subjects on which Lord Knightley could talk with authority: One was the best of which he was perhaps the whist player in England; the other was heraldry, about which he possessed an amazing amount of knowledge. Perhaps his own wonderful pedigree led him to the study of the subject, and certain it is that when he was induced to talk about heraldry, it always led to his discussion of the history of his own family. It was this habit of his that moved the late Sir William Harcourt to adapt the lines from Joseph Addison's hymn, as follows:

"Knightley to the listening ear
Has brought the history of his birth."
True, Lord Knightley's every reason for he could trace it in an unbroken male line to Sir Raimond de Knightley, who came over with William the Conqueror.

As mentioned in "Doomsday Book" at the time of the reign of King Henry III, the present mansion being a wonderful example of old Tudor architecture. It is said that the expression "under the rose" is derived from the Tudor rose ornamenting the center of the great hall, meaning, of course, that beneath the Fawsley rose, secrets could be discussed with perfect freedom and safety. The Knightley barony became extinct with the last Lord Knightley, who went to a cousin, Sir Charles Knightley, who will now receive possession of the Fawsley Park estates, of which the late Lady Knightley had the enjoyment until her demise.